

Williams Mullen Welcomes Employee Benefits & Executive Compensation Associate

03.01.2022

Williams Mullen is pleased to announce that Allison Carlon has joined the firm's Employee Benefits & Executive Compensation Practice in our Richmond office.

As a member of our Employee Benefits & Executive Compensation Practice, Carlon advises employers on the legal aspects of employee benefit and executive compensation matters arising under ERISA and the Internal Revenue Code. Carlon is also familiar with federal and state employment and labor laws, specifically pertaining to employment discrimination and legal requirements under the DC Human Rights Act and Title VII.

Carlon received her Juris Doctor degree from Georgetown University Law Center where she was active with the International Women's Human Rights Clinic and served as both a student ambassador for the admissions center and as a section representative for the Student Bar Association. She received her Bachelor of Science degree from Brigham Young University.
