

Offshore Wind Industry Breakfast

07.28.2022

Hosted by Business Network for Offshore Wind and Williams Mullen

Join the Business Network for Offshore Wind and Williams Mullen for a continental breakfast gathering to discuss the latest updates and insights into the U.S. offshore wind industry, especially offshore wind supply chain opportunities for IT & unmanned vehicle companies.

With a focus on supply chain opportunities for information technology and unmanned vehicle companies, speakers will share insights about the growing need for data during all phases of offshore wind development, from construction through operations and maintenance. The event includes time for questions and discussion with the guest speakers.

This event is free and open to organizations and individuals who want to learn more about offshore wind development in the United States.
